ARBUCKLE TRAIL RIDES

Ride your way across the Oklahoma terrain with a guided tour from Arbuckle Trail Rides. Each year, groups around the country and across the pond make reservations for a relaxing ride through the Chickasaw National Recreation Area, Wolfe Ranch and other large area ranches. This First-American owned business offers half-day and full-day rides year-round for recreational riders. Also available are one and two-hour rides, so fitting this wonderful experience into your schedule is as easy as can be!

All excursions are set up by reservation, and horses are carefully selected to match their riders. Helmets are provided to all guests under 18 and anyone else who might want one. Unfortunately, not all ages are allowed on the trails and all riders must ride solo.

CHICKASAW NATIONAL CAPITOL

In April 1898, construction began on the Chickasaw National Capitol. This Victorian, gothic-style structure is more than 8,000 square feet and was built of red granite from the Pennington Creek quarry of Gov. R. M. Harris. Horses and mules pulled granite blocks weighing 175 lbs. per cubic foot to the Capitol grounds. Today, the Chickasaw National Capitol serves as a museum and reminder that the Chickasaw people fought for their tribal identity and independence. Reservations are required for groups planning to visit the Chickasaw National Capitol, and guided tours are available upon request.

THE CHISHOLM TRAIL HERITAGE CENTER

Named after trader Jesse Chisholm, you can learn all about the iconic trail at the Chisholm Trail Heritage Center in Duncan. Professional tour guides get you started on your adventure throughout the museum. The 4D Experience Theater offers a multi-sensory adventure “on the trail,” where you can smell the wildflowers of the Oklahoma prairie in the springtime and watch a stampede in a thunderstorm. A visit to the Campfire Theater will have you eavesdropping on Jesse Chisholm and Cowboy Tex. Visitors can rope a longhorn steer, ride a bronco or create their own brand at the Branding Station.

An exceptional collection of Western paintings and sculptures can be found in the Garis Gallery of the American West, where groups can learn more about the artists and their artwork through a self-guided tour.

CHICKASAW WHITE HOUSE

Once considered a mansion on the great frontier, this Victorian-style home served as the private residence of Chickasaw Governor Douglas H. Johnston and his family. Built in 1898, this historic home was the setting for many important social and political events including high-profile weddings and meetings between prominent politicians and members of the Dawes Commission. The home features cherry fireplace mantels, crystal chandeliers and 14-foot ceilings, with many original furnishings and décor remaining intact today. A multitude of fine art and musical instruments can be found within the home, acting as a testament to the Chickasaw Nation's dedication to education in all fields. Listed on the National Register of Historic Places, the house now operates as a museum, and groups are welcome.

CHICKASAW BANK MUSEUM

The Bank of the Chickasaw Nation opened in 1901 and came to ruin in 1909 when a cashier and part owner absconded with the money (around $40,000) and was never caught or brought to justice. Years later, the first floor was restored to its original appearance as the Chickasaw Nation's official depository showcasing historical memorabilia and artifacts. The Chickasaw Bank Museum was placed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1992 and has since become a popular stop for group tours around the area.
